

INTRODUCING

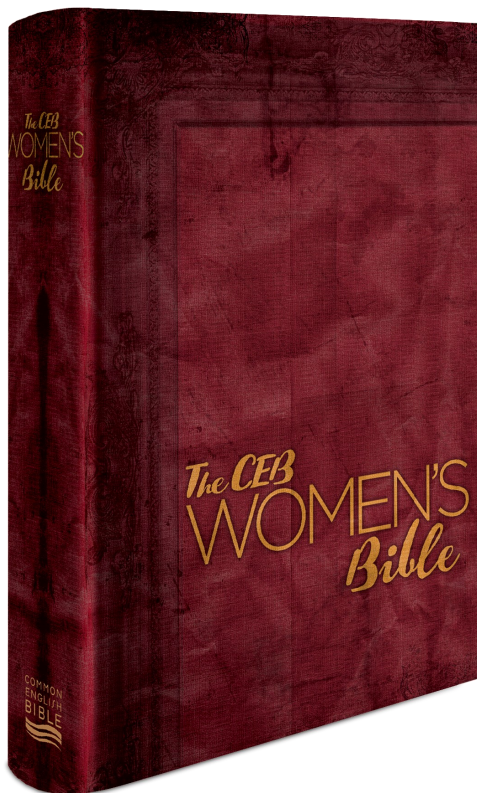

The CEB WOMEN'S Bible

Available October 2016, The CEB Women's Bible invites you into a deeper conversation with scripture.

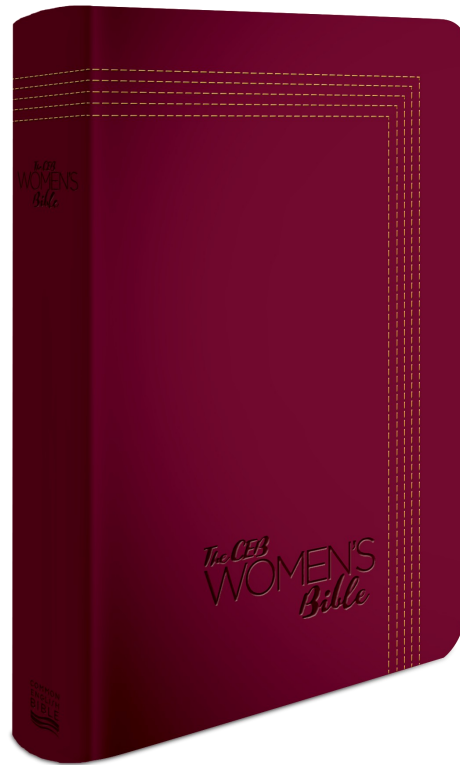

By focusing on stories of women, named and unnamed, and by engaging with the reflections and articles that accompany the sacred text of the Bible, you—both women and men—will find yourself in a new way.

The translators of the Common English Bible include both women and men, but all eighty editors and commentators for The CEB Women's Bible are women.

We come from different denominations and backgrounds. We are biblical scholars who train women and men for Christian ministry, and we are pastors and church leaders who seek to equip our congregations with the knowledge and love of scripture. A few of us are novelists who tell stories about human experience, of life together in relationship and community. All of us are deeply committed to the power of God's living word.
